DOC SAYS—

THE MAN WHO SAYS THE USE OF LIQUOR IS DESTRUCTIVE TO A MAN'S CONSTRUCTIVE GENIUS WILL ADMIT THAT THERE'S NOTHING LIKE WINE TO HELP A MAN BUILD HIS CASTLES IN SPAIN.

It is a long jump from United States Intervention in Mexico to the building of a municipal telephone line on the island of San Domingo but W. J. Ferris, erstwhile president of the La Crosse Water Power company, aroused memories of the one while talking of the other not long ago and he unraveled a yarn of Spanish-American graft that illustrates perhaps some of the cause of the fomentations among the southern brethren.

"In 1885," he said, "when I was considerably more of a youngster than I am now, I was sent to San Domingo by the General Electric company to build a telephone line for the city of Port-au-Prince. Among the other supplies that I took along with me from the states was a pony, which cost, I should judge, about $25 in Tampa. I used the horse for saddling and driving in the supervision of the work but in the course of time I discovered that he was of greater value to us in hauling supplies from one point on the line to another and I employed a native driver.

"Then my troubles began. The average driver stayed with us about one day, his magnificent salary of twenty-five cents seemingly sufficient for all worldly needs. And the average driver left the horse standing wherever and whenever the inspiration to quit struck him.

"There was an ordinance in the town books prohibiting owners of horses from allowing them to stand unhitched on the streets. A special policeman was detailed to follow our horse (one of the three on the island) to see that the ordinance was enforced.

"The law of averages prevailed and about once a day I was notified to come to the police station and redeem my horse, which the decamping driver had left standing on some street. It cost me a $5 fine every time I made the trip to the station. No matter how I cautioned a new driver, the fine followed as sure as he was hired.

"When I left the island a year later I figured up the amount of fines paid on that poor little horse and it totaled just $1,255.

"Not bad for a $25 pony! Eh?"

"Where the hens are doggone glad to lay Scrambled eggs in the new mown hay."

sang Larry, the chef, as he prepared luncheon at the Elks' club. Ed Raymond, of Sundance, pricked up his ears.

"I take that as a melodious tip that we are to have salad today," he said.

The Journal of The American Medical association observes that "it is rumored that a German scientist has discovered a new antitoxin of importance in dealing with one of the greatest scourges known to humanity."

Perhaps Dr. Furstman has discovered an anti-toxin for the frumious rummy bug.

He sat upon the front seat With the ribbons in his hand And whipped the skittish ponies In a manner truly grand. He speeded up and down the pike And took a ghoulisn pride In asking his protesting pals To come and have a ride. His friends procured an ambulance And kept the boob in view, And notified the hospitals, And they got ready, too. In fact, he was the only one Who didn't know the chump Upon the water wagon Was due to get a bump.

What did the Manager's lady think? Nobody never knew. Somebody asked the doctor's wife And she told 'em, good and true, That when it comes to a "prosit" in the case

They're as like as a row of pins— Uncle Joe and The Shrimp, you know Are brothers, under their skins.

HAMBERGER FUNERAL TODAY

The weather will be generally fair in this section tonight and Sunday with somewhat higher temperature tonight and moderate temperature over Sunday.

MOST TERRIBLE STORY IS SHAME OF THE NATION

White Slave Committee Develops Evidence Which Makes Members Tremble with Rage

ALL MERCHANTS DO NOT AGREE

One Admits Connection between Low Wages and Vice and Disputes Living Cost

CHICAGO, March 8.—Edward Hillman, who rose from a position as cash boy at 2 a week until he became one of the "merchant princes" of State street, testifying before the Illinois senate committee probing the white slave traffic, declared today that if any girl in his employ, earning $3.50 a week, went wrong, he would feel, to a certain extent, that he was responsible.

Hillman's doctrine of the "moral responsibility of the employer" was not the creed of other big State street merchants who preceded him on the stand with declarations that low wages and trafficking in women's bodies have no connection.

"I do not know what the exact relation between the two is," said Mr. Hillman, "but I do believe that girls sell themselves rather than starve."

"If one of our $3.50 girls should yield her virtue, I might be reproached by my conscience—that is if she had to support herself. If she were living at home, I might regard it as an accident of business."

James Simpson, vice president of Marshall Field & Co. may be cited for contempt by the investigators. When he was pressed at yesterday's session to give the committee an estimate of the yearly profits of his big company, he refused to answer until he had obtained legal advice.

"This committee has all the powers of any legal tribunal," said Lieutenant Governor Barrett O'Hara today. "We expect witnesses to answer fully any questions put to them."

What a Girl Can Live On

Drawn by yesterday's testimony, a large crowd of social workers, students of psychology and the merely curious flocked the Hotel La Salle to attend today's sessions. They expected to hear several more State street merchants give the probers their estimates of the amount of money on which a girl can support herself in Chicago when she lives alone.

The estimate furnished the probers by Edwin F. Mandel, big merchant, yesterday, was of keen interest. Mandel said that no girl could live on less than $7.50 a week if compelled to support herself. He divided this sum as follows:

Room rent and board	$4.00
Clothing	1.00
Laundry	.25
Car fare	.60
Lunches	.70
Doctors and dentists	.60
Church expenses	.10
Total	$7.25

A Frank Merchant

President Roy M. Shayne of John T. Shayne & Co., furriers, differed with Mandel. Shayne said that no girl could support herself in a big city on less than $8 or $9. Shayne

VOTERS ATTENTION!

Do not fail to register either Monday or Tuesday.

Unless you register in person on one of the two registration days your name will not be written on the poll lists, and you cannot vote. All of the old poll lists have been destroyed under the requirements of the new election law.

You are not permitted to register by proxy or any other way except in person.

The polls will be open from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. both Monday and Tuesday.

Primary election day, March 18, a week from Tuesday, is also a registration day, but if you have not registered before it will be necessary for you to swear in your vote.

In registering you must prove that you are a citizen, either by birth or naturalization. In the event you are a naturalized citizen you must produce your second papers for the election clerk's inspection or make an affidavit that you have second papers. Affidavit blanks may be secured from the city clerk in advance or at the voting booths.

MAYOR ANNOUNCES PLATFORM TODAY

Pledges Best Efforts to Make La Crosse Cleaner and Greater City

Declaring that it is the plain duty of all citizens to work together to make La Crosse a cleaner and greater city and promising that if re-nominated and re-elected he will pledge his best effort to that end, Mayor John Dengler today announced the platform upon which he goes before the people as candidate for another term as the city's chief executive. Mayor Dengler's statement invites a careful examination of his record in office and takes up the question of financing the city's affairs. He calls attention to the possibility of the establishment of a municipal lighting plant in connection with the new water plant and declares his stand on that question should it arise.

In dealing with the moral question he says, "we must avoid the mistake on the one hand of attempting the impossible and on the other hand the attitude of despair that says conditions always were bad, are bad and cannot be improved. Accepting man and conditions as they are, we must gradually do away with the graver evils by such measures as an enlightened public opinion will approve and uphold."

Mr. Dengler's platform is given complete herewith:

"To the Voters of La Crosse: "Now that all candidates for mayor have filed their nomination papers the people have a right to know where they stand upon the issues in this campaign.

"My record is before the voters and I invite a careful examination of the same. Mistakes of judgment may have been made but an examination will show without doubt a faithful and honest effort to act in all cases for the best interests of the city of La Crosse.

Question of Finance

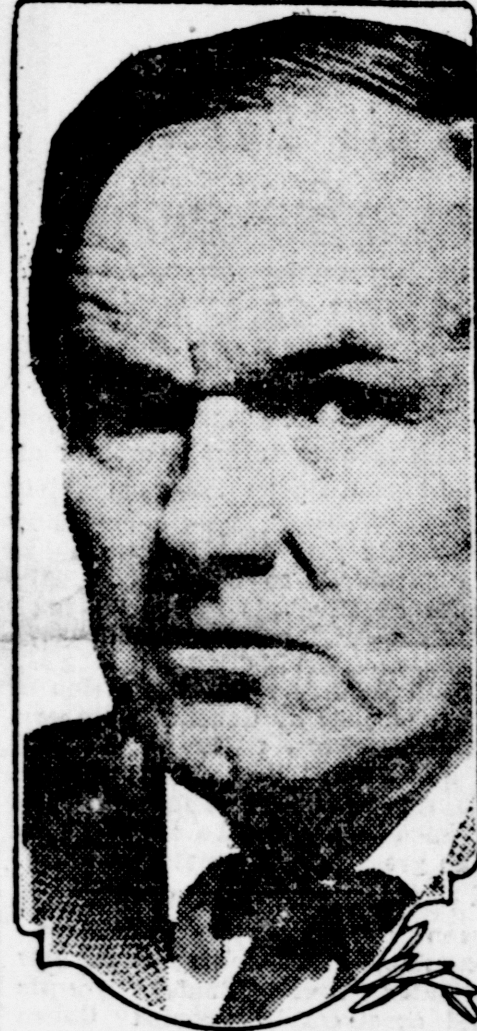

"One of the most important questions that will confront the electors is the question of finance. How much money has been raised? How much has been spent? For what purposes has the same been expended? Has any of it been wasted? Could such waste have been prevented? Has the citizen obtained full value for the money which he has paid either directly or indirectly into the city treasury? These are questions which the citizen has a right to have answered by those who have had charge of municipal affairs. These will be fully discussed and fairly answered in

MISTRIAL RESULT IN DARROW CASE

Jury Discharged Late Today After All Hope of Agreement Was Gone

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 8.—The jury which tried Clarence S. Darrow for the second time on charge of bribery was discharged shortly before noon today, after Foreman Pettigill had reported that it was hopelessly deadlocked and that an agreement was impossible. This ending of the famous case caused no surprise.

Clarence S. Darrow.

as it had been predicted since noon yesterday that the twelve men could not get together. After deliberating for thirty hours the jury came into the court room shortly after 10 o'clock this morning and asked the court to repeat certain portions of his instructions.

Judge Conley did so and the jury immediately retired again. An hour later the jury again came into court and Foreman Pettigill reported that they stood 8 to 4 for acquittal and could not possibly get together.

MARVIN RETURNS SERIOUSLY ILL

Noted Reform Alderman Suffers with Blood Poison; Hurries Back from California

His face swollen and discolored beyond recognition with blood poisoning, George B. Marvin, Jr., noted reform alderman from the Ninth Ward, returned from San Diego, Cal., this afternoon, and was rushed immediately to the La Crosse hospital for treatment. He is said to be seriously ill.

The infection began in a pimple on the alderman's lower lip. It became infected by a scratch and was painful and beginning to swell when he left the California city Tuesday. On the way east his condition rapidly became worse, and at Kansas City he was in such pain that he was forced to break his trip and undergo treatment.

When the trouble was diagnosed as blood poison, Mr. Marvin insisted on hurrying to La Crosse without further delay.

He reached here this afternoon and went to bed at once. Dr. R. M. I. Kinnear, the family physician, was called, and he ordered the alderman to be taken at once to the hospital.

At the hospital this afternoon it was announced that while Mr. Marvin's condition was serious, there was little doubt of his recovery. Dr. Kinnear said he did not think it would be necessary to operate.

SEEK INFORMATION FROM MERCHANTS

Corollary data to be used in connection with the information obtained from the working men of the city in the drawing up of new labor contracts this spring and summer, is being sought by Fred H. Hartwell, attorney for the trades unions, and John Rae, federation of labor organizer today by means of blanks which are being sent to the merchants and business men of the city. The blanks contain a list of questions relating to the prices on food-stuffs, clothing, rental, etc., as compared to the prices on the same commodities one and two years ago.

RAILROADS REFUSED TO OBEY BOARD

MADISON, Wis., March 8.—(Special.)—The railroad commission certified to the attorney general today the fact that a recent order against the Northwestern and St. Paul roads for a joint traffic arrangement in the city of Sparta was not obeyed. The attorney general will investigate it and will probably start a prosecution. The companies claim the law under which the order was made is unconstitutional.

WOMEN'S PROBE CONTINUES

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Further details of the insults heaped upon women marchers in Monday's suffrage parade, and how policemen laughed at the obscenities and made no efforts to clear the streets, were today told that the senate investigating committee, which is attempting to fix blame for the disgraceful scenes on Pennsylvania avenue.

MASS-MEETING TO PUSH MACMILLAN FOR MAYOR TO BE HELD AT THE BIJOU

Non-partisan Business Men's Movement to Find Expression in Big Gathering Tuesday Night

COMMITTEE MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT

However List of Speakers Has Not Been Prepared and Will Not Be Given Out Until Monday

WANT A BROAD ADMINISTRATION

Propose that City Shall Have the Constant and Uninterrupted Services of Experienced Man

A mass meeting to launch the boom of Dan MacMillan for mayor will be held in the Bijou theater at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, March 11. The meeting was announced this afternoon by the citizens' committee which was instrumental in securing Mr. MacMillan's consent to become a candidate. Forty business men have committed themselves to the plan.

DAN MACMILLAN

Candidate Whose Announcement Has Brought Large Element to His Support

The list of speakers has not been announced, and it was said that thus far only preliminary arrangements have been made. The list of speakers will be published Monday. It was said today that Mr. MacMillan's campaign would be made upon his promise to do a day's work as mayor every day, if elected. The movement is backed strongly by a large number of citizens who believe the opposing political candidates are fighting a personal battle over the plums of one or two departments. They want the city run as any great private business is run, and believe that is a job big enough to occupy the entire time of one man.

POPE SUFFERING ATTACK OF GRIPPE

ROME, March 8.—Pope Pius X is suffering from an attack of grippé, complicated by bronchial trouble, it was announced this afternoon from the vatican, and all audiences were suspended indefinitely.

GREATEST CROWD EVER GATHERED IN WASHINGTON SEES NEW PRESIDENT SWORN IN.

At good times she had that day Princess Anne remembered all her life, and she often told about them when she grew up and became a queen. They made mud pies and chased the chickens and peeked down the well tray for luncheon and the children's mother called them after a time that Princess Anne was surprised to see the little stranger. She knew, of course, but the princess was a wise little one and would not tell, because she did not want to be taken back to the lonesome palace. It was evening before the searchers found her. When she told the king and queen what a fine time she had they said she might ask her new friends sometimes to the palace."

PUNISH THOSE WHO DON'T VOTE

Utah, supposed to be one of the least progressive states, has declared for a law which will punish by a fine the non-voter who cannot present a gilt-edged excuse. In New Zealand a man who wilfully declines to use his ballot is deprived of it at the next succeeding election.

Ultimately such laws as these will become general throughout the union unless present conditions change to a marked degree. Everywhere, especially in those communities which have the primary, the man voter is a perennial problem. Some method for awakening in him a sense of his duty long has been discussed.

We are approaching a series of registration days under a new Wisconsin law which is designed to once and for all cure the defects by which men not fully naturalized have been using the ballot. Under this law it will be positively necessary for every man to register before he is permitted to vote. We anticipate that there will be approximately 1,500 voters in the city of La Crosse who will fail to register and who will therefore lose their votes in the coming city election. The men who wilfully disfranchise themselves in this way do not deserve the benefits of good government.

FOR PROGRESS
IN EDUCATION

On April 1 the people of Wisconsin will elect a State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Two candidates are in the field—C. P. Cary, the present incumbent, and William Kittle. It is an exceedingly important election. Upon the choice made by the voters depends in large measure what progress will be made in this progressive state toward making the common schools serve more sufficiently the needs of the people.

Cary has held the office of Superintendent for ten years. His record during this long period has been presented in La Follette's.

The other candidate, William Kittle, has been secretary of the Board of Normal School Regents for nearly eight years—in which position he has shown administrative ability, initiative and a constructive temperament.
He is a graduate of a normal school and of the state university. As teacher in rural, graded and high schools, as a city superintendent of schools and as secretary, he has been brought into the most intimate contact with the educational system of Wisconsin and its present needs. He has directed his efforts constantly toward building up a teaching force in Wisconsin equipped to fit the schools to the needs of farm and city life and imbued with the spirit of service. For one thing, he helped build up a strong system of summer schools to train rural school teachers. Always he has advocated the most direct service to the common schools by the normal schools. In the recognized advances that have been made during the past few years in the normal schools, Mr. Kittle has had no small part, as normal school officials attest. Experts have stated that his system of accounts as secretary of the normal board is, for simplicity and publicity, the best among the hundred institutions of the state. Tax payers will appreciate the significance of this tribute.

Supporting Mr. Kittle's candidacy are many of the foremost citizens of Wisconsin, men and women who are high in professional and public life and representing all political parties.
He is not the candidate of any institution or set of institutions. In his educational platform distributed to Wisconsin citizens he has declared in the strongest terms that his main efforts will be to help the officials and teachers of the common schools.
Mr. Kittle is a progressive. He believes that politics should serve the best interests of the people, he believes that industry should be conducted to the same end and he believes that the schools should be adapted to the real needs of the community in training young citizens for character and practical efficiency. Wisconsin needs today at the head of her common school system a man of vision, of scholarship, of administrative ability, of courage, of devotion to public interest, and above all, of a keen appreciation of the service that may be rendered a community by the humane management of its schools. Mr. Kittle's work has won the commendation of leading educators and his candidacy has the support of Wisconsin men and women of distinction who believe that a new era should begin in the state superintendent's office—an era of SERVICE.

La Follette's urges every progressive citizen to go to the polls on the 1st of April and help to forward the progressive, constructive development of Wisconsin's school system by voting for William Kittle for state superintendent—La Follette's Magazine.

DOMESTIC "DRUDGERY" AND WOMEN'S FIELD

Mrs. Russell Sage says there is an immense amount of feminine talent and energy wasted in the world every day, not because of the indifference or laziness of women—for she is eager to do, to accomplish, to get out into the field of life and achieve for herself and her kind—but because she simply does not know how.

Mrs. Sage contends that one of the most important movements of the day is the re-awakening of woman,
the building her up on a new basis of self-help and work for others.

"It is absurd," she says, "to suggest that women who have a talent for music, or literature, or art, should be enslaved by domestic drudgery, while the struggle for the civilization of the world is going on."

There is a chance that Mrs. Sage is in error. The wife of a multi-millionaire, whose idea of doing good in the world consists chiefly in giving away money that she does not know what else to do with, can hardly be in full sympathy and have a thorough understanding of woman in general.

The average woman is not so anxious about getting out into the world and doing for others as she is about doing, with insufficient means and strength, all that needs to be done for her own family.

"Enslaved by domestic drudgery," has a hard and forbidding sound. But the fact remains that the vast majority of women are so "enslaved" voluntarily and gladly, finding in the manifold domestic duties, upon which the happiness of the home is founded, not only their highest pleasure and profit, but their highest, truest mission.

The woman who does faithfully and cheerfully the duties of her home need not worry about her "mission."
She is at the very source of civilization and human development.

She who makes a happy home—a living spring of honor and right endeavor—does more for the world than she who establishes a great art institute.

She may not see the full result of her work. Like the cloud that is dissipated in rain, like the rain that disappears in the stream, and like the stream that is lost in the ocean, she may feel that her mission has been nought; but such are the missions that are worth while and the good results of which never end while time endures.

In spite of his idea of Jeffersonian simplicity, Woodrow will probably not eat dinner in his shirt sleeves when there are any distinguished diplomats present.

The navy is said to have cut down
Uncle Sam's revenue considerably the past year. Perhaps there are too many revenue cutters in it.

The government is about to issue a new 5 cent piece of artistic design, but what is needed is a 5 cent piece that will buy a good cigar.

New Jersey is getting rid of the trusts, but will never be a salubrious state in which to live until it gets rid of the mosquitoes.

Every time a barn burns in Honolulu there are further rumors of Japanese designs on Hawaii.

A New York man had to choose between his wife and his motor car.
He's still honking.

The Difference

The sun shines brightly every day.
The robin chirps his merry lay.
There is a smile on every face;
This world seems like a heavenly place.

Where'er you touch turns into gold;
Your blessings could ne'er be told.
Your friends crowd round to grasp your hand.

The fellowship is simply grand.
They shout your name in glad acclaim,

And cheer you on the road to Fame.
You could not stop them if you would,

When you are makin' good.

The grim old clouds hang dark and low;
You don't see smiles where'er you go
You cannot board the sordid cash.
Where'er you touch turns into trash.

The crowds of friends don't gather 'round
And fill the air with joyful sound.
They do not pat you on the back
And greet you with a friendly whack.

At least that's how it always seems.
You feel just like a useless leech
When you are down and out.

The Caddy's Rebuke

Mrs. R. H. Barlow, the golf expert, was telling golf stories at a luncheon at the Ritz-Carlton in Philadelphia.

"I once attended a feast," she said, "that a golf club gave in honor of its caddies. The caddies enjoyed the feast, and most of them displayed excellent table manners, but there was one lad, Charlie, who fed himself exclusively with his knife.

"Fish, peas, chicken, mashed potatoes, sauce—everything was conveyed to Charlie's young mouth on a knife blade. But when the ice cream came on and the lad actually began to shovel in ice cream upon a knife a caddy at the other end of the table shouted in amazement:

"Holy smoke! Look at Charlie.
Usin' his iron all the way round!"

Sympathetic

A pretty school teacher asked John D. Rockefeller during a sleigh ride over the Poconico Hills estate how it came about that Mr. Rockefeller had several such grand homes, while she,
for all the hard and useful work she did, was obliged to live in one 9x11 room.

"Save your pennies," was the oil
king's cryptic answer.

Afterward the pretty school teacher asked of Mr. Rockefeller a recipe for contentment and he replied,
as readily as before:

"Never borrow trouble and never lend money."

Just to Please Him

Two suffragettes were met together and the one had a grievance against the other.

"I am told," she said, severely,
"that you allow your husband to carry a latch key. Is it possible?"

"Yes," answered the other, with an indulgent smile, "I do let the poor boy carry a latch key, I must admit. But it doesn't fit the door. I just let him carry it to humor him.
He likes to show it to his friends, you know, and makes them think he's independent."

For Rough, Wrinkled,
Freckled, Pimpied Skin

(From the Woman's Home Journal.)

As March winds, flying dust and dirt, are apt to injure any complexion, this information will be of special value right now. If you have any cutaneous blemish, don't use paint, powder or anything else to cover it up. Too often this only emphasizes the defect.
Besides, it's much easier to remove the disfigurement with ordinary mer-curized wax. Applied nightly, the wax will gradually remove freckles, pimples, blackheads, moth-patches, sal-lowness, red or yellow blotches, or any surface eruptions. The affected cuticle is absorbed, a little each day, until the clear, soft, youthful and beautiful skin beneath is brought wholly to view. Ask the druggist for an ounce of mercurized wax and use this like you use cold cream. Remove in morning with soap and water.
Many who have tried this simple harmless treatment report astonishing results.

If bothered with wrinkles and furrows, a wash lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxoline in a half pint with hazel will prove wonderfully effectual.

"Leave me tell it to you just as it happened, boss," said Montgomery.
"Then if you say I lie, I won't answer you back; we'll let it go at that."

Gilmore appeared to consider for a moment, his look of mingled indifference and contempt has quite passed away.

"I guess it sounds straight, Joe!"
he said at length slowly.

"Why? Because it is straight, every damn word of it, boss."

And as if to give emphasis to his words the handy-man swung out a grimy fist and dropped it into an equally grimy palm.

"What did you do after that?"
asked Gilmore.

"Not much. I laid low and presently lifted my sack of coal out and ducked around to Lonigan's saloon. I went in there by the back door and left my sack leanin' against the building. Mike wanted his mail and he gave me a drink of whiskey if I'd take his keys and go to the postoffice for him; I'd just come into the Square when I run into Shrimp who was tellin' how old man McBride was murdered. I went into the store and found you there with Colonel Harrison, you remember, boss?" Gilmore nodded and Montgomery continued.

"I hadn't a chance to tell you what I'd seen, and all night long I kept hearin' him say it!"

"Say what, Joe?"

"Say, 'Oh, my God!' like I told you, boss; I couldn't sleep for it—I wonder if he slept!"

"Joe," said the gambler, "I'll tell you something that I have only told the sheriff. I was in Langham's office late yesterday and John North was there; he left to go to McBride's. Conklin's been looking for him this morning, but he can't find him, and no one seems to know what's become of him. Do you follow me?"

"What's North got to do with it, boss?"

"How do you now it wasn't North you saw in the alley?" urged Gilmore.

"It were not!" said Joe Montgomery positively.

"You saw the man's face?"

"As plain as I see yours!"

"And you know the man?"

"Yes."

"Then I'll tell you who you saw," said the gambler coolly; "it was Marshall Langham."

The handy-man swore a great oath.

"You've guessed it, boss! You've guessed it!"

"It ain't a guess as it happens."

"Boss, do you mean to tell me you new all along?" demanded Montgomery incredulously.

"Yes."

"But what about North?"

"That's his lookout, let him clear himself."

Joe, shambling and shuffling, took a turn about the room.

"Boss, if it was me that stood in the boots the halter would be as good as about my neck; they wouldn't give me no chance to clear myself—they wouldn't let me!

Them smart lawyers would twist and turn everything I said so that God Almighty wouldn't know His own truth!"

"Well, you were in that alley,
Joe; if you feel for him, I expect
we could somehow shift it to you!"
said Gilmore.

The handy-man slouched to the hearth again.

"None of that, boss!" he cried.

"I've told you what took me there, so none of that!"

His voice shook with suppressed feeling, as he stood there scowling down on the gambler.

"Sit down, Joe!" said Gilmore,
unruffled.

Reluctantly the handy-man sank into the chair indicated.

"Now you old sot," began the gambler, "you listen to me! I suppose if they could shift suspicion so that it would appear you had had something to do with the old man's murder, it would take Moxlow and the judge and any decent jury no time at all to hang you; for who would care a damn whether you were hanged or not! But you need not worry, I'm going to manage this thing for you, I'm going to see that you don't get into trouble.
Now, listen, you're to let well enough alone. North is already under suspicion apparently. All right, we'll help the suspicion along. If you have anything to tell, you'll say that the man who came over that shed looked like North."

"Boss, I won't say a word about the shed or the alley!"

"Oh, yes you will, Joe! The man looked like North—you remember, at the time you thought he looked like North, and you thought you recognized his voice when he spoke, and you thought it was Mr.
North's voice. He had on a black derby hat and a dark brown overcoat; don't forget that, Joe, for we are going to furnish young North with a bunch of worries."

The handy-man looked at him
doubtfully, sullenly.

"I don't want to hang him, he's always treated me white enough, though I never liked him to hurt."

Gilmore laughed unpleasantly.

"Oh, there's no chance of that,
your evidence won't hang him, but it will give him a whole lot to think about and Langham's a pretty decent fellow; if you treat him right, he'll keep you drunk for the rest of your days; you'll own him body and soul!"

"An ignorant man like me couldn't go up against a sharp lawyer like Marsh Langham! Do you know

what'd happen to me? I'll tell you; I'd get so damned well fixed I'd never look at daylight except through jail windows; that's the trick I'd serve myself, boss."

"I'll take that off your hands,"
said Gilmore.

"And what do you get out of it,
boss?" inquired the astute Mr.
Montgomery.

"You'll have to put your trust in my benevolence, Joe," said the gambler. "But I am willing to admit I want to see North put where he'll have every inducement to attend strictly to his own business!"

CHAPTER NINE.
The Star Witness.

It was between nine and ten o'clock when Marshall Langham reached his office. He scarcely had time to remove his hat and overcoat when a policeman entered the room and handed him a note. It was a hasty scrawl from Moxlow who wished him to come at once to the court house.

As Moxlow's messenger quitted the room Langham leaned against his desk with set lips and drawn face; this was but the beginning of the ordeal through which he must pass! Then slowly he resumed his hat and overcoat.

The prosecuting attorney's office was on the second floor of the court house, at the back of the building, and its windows overlooked the court house yard.

On the steps and in the long corridors, men stood about, discussing the murder. Langham pushed his way resolutely through these groups and mounted the stairs.
Moxlow's door was locked, as he found when he tried to open it, but in response to his knock a bolt was drawn and a policeman swung open the door, closing it the instant Marshall had entered.

Perfectly Devoted

"He's a perfectly devoted father!"

"Is that so?"

"Yes; if their new baby keeps him wife about it."—Judge.

A 49er

The late James R. Keene, himself almost a 49er, used to tell many a story about the characters of '49.

"It was difficult in those days," he once said, "to be a temperance man, for to refuse to drink with a '49er was a worse offense than to kiss the fellow's wife."

"A 49er, twirling his long and drooping mustache, said to a tender-foot in a barroom:

"Have some red eye with me?"

"Thank you—no," said the tenderfoot, a total abstainer, firmly.

"There was a tense silence in the crowded bar. A pin could have been heard to drop. Then the 49er reached back to his hip pocket and said with a weary sigh:

"Heigho, can't I even take a drink without killin' a man?"

Averse to Personalities

Senator Bailey of Texas the day of his farewell address was asked by a correspondent to criticize two committees. He refused, however, to do so.

"I decline," he said, "for the same reason that led a cousin of mine to decline to argue about theology."

"I cannot discuss heaven or hell," my cousin said. "I have friends in both places."

Inquisitive

The curate of a large and fashionable church was endeavoring to teach the significance of white to a Sunday school class.

"Why," said he, "does a bride invariably desire to be clothed in white at her marriage?" As no one answered, he explained, "White," said he,
"stands for joy, and the wedding day

HOOD IN FAVOR OF BOXING BILL

Assemblyman Talks at the Meeting of North Side Fans; Says It Is Not Brutal Sport

In an informal meeting of north side boxing fans a few days ago, Assemblyman C. L. Hood made a statement in regard to the Hedding boxing bill, the interests of which the boxing enthusiasts of the north side are trying to forward.

Mr. Hood said that he has in the past seen several boxing exhibitions in Madison and other cities of the state, under the supervision of Howard Casselbone, and that he could not see anything brutal about the exhibitions. He said that he could not understand the statement of the Milwaukee Chief of Police, that was made a few days ago in which he said that the sport was the most brutal form of play that he could imagine.

Boxing circuits are being formed in many throughout the state that to urge the passage of the Hedding bill.

Promoters of the Bossard vs Melde match have received a letter from Al Bossard of St. Paul saying that he is ready at any time to place the $100 side bet for a go with Melde. He says that in about a week he is coming to La Crosse to stay until he makes a match. He says he would rather wrestle outside of the city, but that in order to make good, he would come to any terms agreeable to Melde.

CHILD WELFARE EXHIBIT ARRIVES

Several Outside Speakers to Lecture in Connection with the Institute

OPENS AT CITY HALL MONDAY

S. J. Dufner, State Dairy Inspector, to Open Program Monday Evening

The child welfare exhibit arrived today and will be set up in the council chambers of the city hall ready for the opening of the institute Monday afternoon.

Mr. Roseman has secured several speakers from outside of the city to assist on the program. S. J. Dufner, state dairy inspector for this section of the state, will lecture Monday evening on the "Regulation of Milk Supply and its Relation to Child Welfare." Dr. Elizabeth W. Allison, state normal school physician, will give an address on "The Care of the Eyes, Ears, Nose and Throat." Dr. Theodore Werle of Milwaukee will talk on "How to Fight Tuberculosis" on Wednesday afternoon. And Professor J. L. Gillin, department of general welfare of the state university, will lecture Thursday afternoon and evening, also Saturday afternoon and evening. Several local people will also take part in the program.

The fact that 300,000 babies die in the United States every year ought to be sufficient reason for conducting such institutes throughout the United States. Mrs. Russell Sage, who has been a prime mover for the reduction of infant mortality, states that at least one-half of this number can be saved if the interests of all the forces in the United States can be united toward this end. At the international congress of hygiene and demography, held at Washington last fall, it was advocated that it was a wiser plan for the United States to save one of its own born, than to import two from foreign countries, and that the sooner our government recognizes this fact the sooner would America be free from anarchists. It was further argued that our government ought to give at least as much attention to human welfare as to the welfare of our industries and dumb animals. The accompanying cartoon may be suggestive in this connection.

Trawlers Hurt the Telephone.

Some difficulty is being experienced by the Japanese telegraph service owing to the damage caused to the submarine cables off the coast of Japan by fishing trawlers. Owing to the profitable nature of the business, there has recently been a large increase in the number of trawlers, with the result that an interruption of the cable service is frequently caused. The authorities of the government telegraphs and agricultural departments are at present conferring as to the steps to be taken to overcome the difficulty.

GIRLS GIVE SLEIGHRIDE

A very pleasant sleighride party was given by Miss Gladys Tuttle and Elvora Smith. Those present were Lillian Kindly, Gladys Tuttle, Vivian Taggart, Dorothy Woodcock, Dorothy Hemleben, Ruth Knudson, Emma Lund, Asta Lund, Elvora Smith, Ada Fregina, Alvera Boe, Irene Schroeder, Helen Verket and Hattie Williams. The party was chaperoned by Miss Emma Lund and a nice supper served at the home of Dorothy Hemleben ended a very pleasant evening.

ROWENA CIRCLE PLAYS CINCH

Rowena circle, B. A. Yeomen, held their regular meeting in Linker hall Tuesday afternoon. Progressive cinch was played for prizes of Haviland china which were won by Mesdames Stangle, Schneeberger, Gunderswager, Merwin, Denney and Walters. All arrangements are being completed for the annual banquet to be given by the circle, March 27th. Invitations are being issued for the annual ball to be held on this occasion.

The Brotherhood of American Yeomen will hold their regular meeting in Linker hall Tuesday evening. A number of applications are being secured daily by the deputies, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Lee for the large class to be taken in April 1, the night of the Yeomen state convocation in La Crosse.

COFFEE

Mrs. William Bell, 1929 Grove St., was hostess at a coffee yesterday afternoon. Those present were Mesdames Madlund, Bakke, Linhart, Hetzinger, Corten, Knox and Guntach, and Misses Olga Lundie, Florence Ledman and Grace McMahon.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. William Rehfs announce the engagement of their daughter, Florence Helen, to Mr. Henry Schuelke. The wedding will take place shortly after Easter.

GUILD TO MEET

The Woman's Guild of Christ church will meet at 2:30 Thursday afternoon with Mrs. W. H. Gaspard, 714 Cass street.

F. R. A. CARD PARTY

The card party given by the ladies of the F. R. A. society Thursday afternoon was a pleasant and successful affair. Both cinch and five hundred were played there being twenty-one tables. The first prizes in five hundred were taken by Mrs. A. Drake, Mrs. Volney Woolsey, the second by Mrs. S. J. de Ranitz and Mrs. L. Brown. The first prizes in cinch were taken by Mrs. C. Harrington, Mrs. W. E. Wheeler, the second by Mrs. A. E. Anderberg.

MR. AND MRS. BAKER ENTERTAIN AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Baker entertained at a dinner at the Stoddard last evening. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Van Aiken, Miss Van Aiken, Mr. and Mrs. John Bayer and Dr. and Mrs. Callahan.

SLEIGHRIDE

Tuesday afternoon a party consisting of Mesdames E. E. Dow, C. W. Dow, C. H. Schweizer, George Bunge, Robert McDonald, Miss Ida Schumann, Miss Bosshard and Miss Nellie McDonald, drove down to the Rogers farm, where they spent the afternoon. A delicious hot supper was served before their departure.

Y. M. C. A. DORMITORY DINNER

Members of the dormitory community at the Y. M. C. A. gave their annual dinner last night at the association building, with their ladies as the honor guests. A delicious dinner was served at 7 o'clock, during which Miss Vera Anderson, accompanied by Miss Kloseheim, rendered several selections on the violin. After the dinner there was a program of musical numbers and an odd monologue set to music by Charles Baker, star entertainer of the dormitory. Mr. Baker's impersonations after the manner of Harry Lauder, occasioned much laughter. At the conclusion of the formal program the party broke into groups which roamed the association building from plunge-room to fourth-floor rooms, "open house" having been declared for the occasion.

FAREWELL SURPRISE

Mrs. H. J. Roth, Jr., was pleasantly surprised at her home, 1813 Kane street. Five hundred was played, after which a bounteous lunch was served. Prizes were awarded Mrs. J. Wagner and Mrs. A. Sieger, first; Mrs. Bucholz and Mrs. Foster, second. Those present were the Mesdames H. J. Roth, Sr., E. Boyle, Smith, Lund, A. Bucholz, R. Roth, S. Dohly, K. Foster, G. Fox, R. Ranke, C. Becker, A. Etzen, J. Wagner, A. Sieger, H. J. Roth, Jr., and Miss Jessie Ryan. All reported a very pleasant time. The hostess was presented with a token of remembrance.

20TH CENTURY CLUB

The Twentieth Century club was entertained Tuesday, March 4, by Mesdames Cowles and Sanford at the home of Mrs. F. G. Cowles.

The meeting opened by a parliamentary drill by Miss Hogan after which the lesson, Great Actors and Actresses, was in charge of Mrs. A. Hardy, who was assisted by Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Noble.

After intermission Masters Charles Weiss delighted the audience with three piano selections which were rendered in a manner which proved him quite a wonder for one of his years.

SPRING OPENING

My Beautiful Showing of Entirely New Fashions is Now Ready.
A Grand Exposition of Spring Millinery Begins

Monday, March 10th, and Will Continue All Week

Come in and look over our beautiful Spring Millinery, as this showing is a jeweled event. Every Hat is an authoritative style. It is either an original or a copy or adaptation of a creation that found its inception in the mind of a master milliner, as our trimmers, makers and salesladies visit the eastern showing of styles and fashions every season. Just at this time of year the styles in Millinery are at their most interesting stage. You assuredly will enjoy this rare opportunity to view the early season's models, reflecting as they do all the beauty and freshness of spring. A change from the heavy felt winter hat to the light airy straw, trimmed with the new novelties and flowers is always welcomed, and what is more becoming to a lady than a beautiful spring creation in Millinery? You will always find our salesladies courteous and willing to show and explain all the new styles and modes of trimmings and shapes on display at our opening. We are proud to say we have the largest and most beautiful display of the new styles and modes in Spring Millinery that we ever had.

Thomas Jefferson's Inventions.
Thomas Jefferson invented the folding camp stool, the revolving office chair, the two-wheeled sulky, the copying press, the pedometer, a lamp and a very convenient improvement on the plows used in his day. Of all these ingenious contrivances the plow received the greatest notice, a gold medal having been awarded it in Paris in 1790. Eighteen years later the Royal Agricultural Society of the Seine, to which he had presented the original plow, sent him a superb, up-to-date plow containing his improvement.

Harm Wrought by Free Beer.
Some of the older insurance companies of England used to dispense beer free to their employees. A drunken orgy took place every afternoon. Those clerks who did not want the free beer left theirs for those who did. One man told how he thought nothing of drinking sixteen glasses one after the other, and his statement was substantiated by other men. Before the free beer system was ended the annual beer bill of one company was $1,000.

SPOTLIGHTS

Henrietta Crossman

So great was the success of "The Real Thing" last season that Maurice Campbell has decided that Henrietta Crossman will appear in the charming comedy again this season and has therefore shelved other new plays. Miss Crossman had in contemplation, "The Real Thing" was produced in Atlantic City in July, 1911. Its success both in New York at the Maxine Elliott theater and on tour was so instantaneous and complete, and the demand for it through that part of the country not covered last year so great, that it has been decided to play it one more season.

Miss Crossman's comes to La Crosse Theater for one night, March 12.

The story of this remarkable play is what frequently occurs and therefore "The Real Thing" was called a comedy of everyday life. As Miss Crossman said in that other famous success of hers "Sweet Kitty Belaire," "Any fool can catch a man but it takes all our wiles to hold on to the devils." This is what the "wife" in "The Real Thing" forgets. A brilliant, dashing woman attracts her husband by these very qualities and then after she has him she forgets that she has to hold him by these same accomplishments.

Children come and she allows herself to become absorbed in the cares of the house and the children, leaving her husband to find amusement in other ways and places. It is the "widow" sister of the foolish "wife," who wakes her sister up and shows her that if she wants to keep her husband she must be a companion to him as well as to the children.

It is in this theme that Mrs. Cushing has hit upon the secret of many household disagreements and "The Real Thing" will be considered one of the great American comedies.

Few men can look back at their past without wanting to dodge up an alley.

took issue with all the big merchants who had preceded him on the stand. He said he thought there was an intimate connection between low wages and the vice problem.

"Only One Way"

Six women, inmates of an immoral resort, were brought before the probers by the sergeant-at-arms, after they had failed to respond to subpoenas. Each of them attributed her fall to the low wage system.

"My husband died when I was 21 years old, leaving me two little children to support," testified one girl. "I got a job in a laundry at $4 a week, but I could not make it go. There was only one thing to do."

She paused a moment, while several women spectators gasped. "Oh, it's all right; the babies will never know. I sent them out of the city."

Fallen Woman Testifies

Testimony of an inmate of an immoral resort, taken at an executive session of the probers yesterday, was given to the public today.

The girl, whose identity was concealed under the initials "E. G." is in a hospital, a complete wreck.

Brought before the committee in an almost helpless condition, she testified that she turned to a life of shame after her husband died, leaving her to support a small child. "The most I could earn was $4 a week," she said. "That wouldn't even buy things to eat."

A Terrible Story

Her story of the imprisonment of a young girl who had been seduced by a cadet horrified the senators. "This little girl—17 years old—was brought to the resort where I lived by a procurer," she testified. "They carried her upstairs, fighting like a mad woman, and locked her in a room. Her clothes were taken from her. The cadet brought men to see her and she was assaulted at least 100 times before she submitted. I could hear her screaming and crying every night for two weeks."

"Where is she now?" asked one of the probers. "She's at the hospital, too," answered the girl, and she sobbed, "I guess she's about gone."

"I did not believe there was such a hell on earth," said Senator Neil Juhl today, commenting on the girl's story.

The probers today requested the county coroner's office to furnish them with a list of women who have committed suicide because they were unable to obtain employment.

another statement to be issued before the close of the campaign. It will be sufficient to say at this time that I have always stood for the greatest economy consistent with an efficient public service. There can be no doubt that affairs have been economically administered and that no more has been wasted than in the management of a well conducted business. The common council has given careful consideration to all matters of finance and their efforts deserve commendation.

"It has been my policy throughout this administration to co-operate with the council and to conduct the affairs of the city on a non-partisan basis. This was done before the non-partisan act was adopted. In organizing the council and appointing the committees party connections were not considered. Experience and ability were made the only test."

The Water Question

"There never was a council that worked harder or more earnestly than this one. They have finally solved the most perplexing problem that has confronted the voters of La Crosse, the water question, in face of the most determined opposition. Full credit must be given to all who assisted in this matter. There were some unfortunate incidents in that struggle. Some things were done that should not have been done. But the problem is now solved. It is not my nature to claim more credit than is due me. In defense of myself I can say that it was finally due to my efforts that the struggling factions were brought together in a compromise that has placed the plant under construction by the most competent engineers that could be obtained.

Board of Public Works

"The water question disclosed one of the most serious defects of our government, that is, the existence of a board of public works independent of the mayor and common council which by failure to co-operate with them can cause serious delays and produce many quarrels and wranglings. I have always been in favor of changing the board and organizing the same on another basis that will produce more harmony and co-operation. The matter can be arranged so that the men elected as members of the board can be employed in the various departments, but in such a manner that there will be no conflict of authority between them and the council."

"The burden of the present administration has been to make the new water system possible. The coming administration will have the burden of perfecting the management. And in this connection another matter of the greater importance will arise. The contract of the city with the La Crosse Gas & Electric company for lighting the streets expires on the first day of April, 1916. The next administration must make preparations to protect the interest of the city. This will again bring up the question of the establishing of a municipal lighting plant. With the establishing of a reservoir system during most of the year the water used can be pumped in the reservoir during ten hours of the day. During the balance of the time the plant and men would be idle to a great extent. As the low lift pumps are run by electricity this will require the presence of an engineer acquainted with electrical machinery. It may be true economy for the city to utilize the plant and the men to the best advantage by supplying the light for our streets by our own plant. Of course, if our local company can give us light cheaper than the city can furnish it, under these favorable conditions such a step may not be advisable. The attitude of all officers who may be called upon to handle this matter should be carefully scrutinized. The La Crosse Gas & Electric company was compelled to give a fairly reasonable contract the last time because the people had voted for municipal ownership. We cannot begin to consider the matter too soon because under the public utility law the question must be taken up with the railroad commission and may have to go before the courts with all the necessary delays connected with such procedure. If elected mayor I pledge my word of honor that when the time comes I will see that the interests of the people are protected and to fight for the establishment of a municipal plant if it becomes necessary to protect the interest of the people."

Taxation

"Equitable assessment of taxation is just as important as a limitation of the tax burden. The assessors should be appointed for merit only. There should be a complete re-assessment and revaluation of property in the city so that many of the inequalities that exist may be done away with. From a financial point of view it would benefit the city and produce equality among the tax payers to have competent men appointed who should work throughout the year instead of a few months as at present. The work of assessment could then be done carefully and deliberately and more accurately. The very best men possible for the purpose should be obtained."

Moral Welfare

"Questions of municipal finance are important but there are problems that involve more than money. We should be interested in the moral welfare of our city. Let us not forget those things that are intended to elevate the moral tone of the community. We are a Christian city. We have Christian ideals. Let us not forget them in the solution of municipal problems. No one realizes more than I do that you cannot make men good by passing laws or by enforcing them to the letter. Something more is required than a mere statute. It is the will, the desire of the men to promote morality that causes progress. Two things are necessary to bring about improvement. Good men must be elected to office. The whole citizenship must be active and wide awake in the formation of public opinion."

"We must avoid the mistake on the one hand of attempting the impossible and on the other hand the attitude of despair that says that conditions always were bad, are bad and cannot be improved. Accepting man and conditions as they are we must gradually do away with the graver evils by such measures as an enlightened public opinion will approve and uphold. Upon these principles I desire to have the progress of my administration measured."

The Saloon

"During the last two years steps have been taken to eliminate the bad saloon. Licenses were refused to several persons. Others were required to remove their stalls and wine rooms and conform to our ordinance. I am glad to say that these steps met with the approval of many saloonkeepers who saw the necessity of raising the standard of their business. The Wisconsin Retail Liquor Dealers association, the Wisconsin Brewers association, the National Brewers association and other similar organizations have again and again endorsed a movement of this kind. Our saloonkeepers should realize that unless they co-operate with the public authorities to remove recognized evils an indignant public will take more radical steps. It can be truthfully said that conditions in La Crosse today are better than in the past. We must act conservatively and not take any more radical action than the conditions warrant. Radical agitation gives the city a worse reputation than it deserves. La Crosse is no worse morally than other cities of similar size. In fact, I believe it is better than the average."

"All over the country there is an agitation that has for its purpose the doing away with the social evils. This is not the time for a full discussion of the vice problem. This much however we desire to emphasize. It is a problem that should be dealt with by those who are opposed to vice and not by its beneficiaries. Gambling and prostitution were largely abolished during the last half of W. A. Anderson's administration. During the next administration they were openly tolerated. This condition continued until the people were shocked by the revelations of the close and intimate relations between the members of the police department and those engaged in the vicious business. The chief of police was given free hand to enforce the order filed with him by Mayor W. A. Anderson. We believe that this has produced better moral tone in the community."

Police Department

"Previous to this administration the police department was in a disorganized condition resulting from outside interference. As a result it was divided into factions. The situation has changed. Now all members of the department are working in harmony and with it better results. Crime has been materially decreased and few criminals have escaped."

"The city is in a prosperous condition and the prospects for an industrial revival never looked better. With the improvement of our water system we will have practically all of the things that make up a modern up-to-date city."

"It is the plain duty of all citizens, laboring men, professional men and business men to work together and make La Crosse a cleaner and greater city. If re-nominated and re-elected mayor I pledge my best endeavors to that end."

BUT 30 PERISH DUE TO HEROISM

Dynamite Victims Saved by Daring Acts of Men Who Come to the Rescue

BALTIMORE, March 8.—Revised lists of dead in the explosion on the steamer Alum Chine today indicated that the number will probably not exceed 30. Cold weather will delay the recovery of bodies and it may be weeks before the list is correctly given. The injured number seventy and some of these may die.

Tales of heroism of water front men mark the second day after the great quantity of dynamite let go. John Goodhue, a ship chandler, was almost alongside the tug, barge and tramp steamer when the explosion came. He was in a tiny gasoline launch and was running away for dear life when he thought of rescue. Back alongside he went as the almost tidal wave receded, picked up 18 men and then twisted around towards Sparrow's Point. Captains of tugs gathered up many more injured. There were many volunteers who rushed in with no thought of themselves. That is why the death list is no larger.

When the tug Atlantic, which strangely did not sink immediately from the force of the explosion, caught fire from stem to stern, the tugs Curtis Bay and Reihl went alongside. They carried off her injured and not a man aboard was lost. Then they took the blazing vessel in tow. The ship was nearly to her city dock when she went down.

Loss Not Known

The monetary loss is placed at about $200,000. The Davison Chemical company at Hawk's Point suffered more than any other concern on shore. It is recalled here that gun tests at Fort Armistead, closer than the dynamite ship, did such great damage that the government paid the concern $275,000. Examinations are being made today to see how much the stock was damaged during the unprecedented vibrations.

Captain Ansley of the Alum Chine escaped because he was ashore. He was at the customs house getting his clearance papers.

The collier Jason was left floating only by a freak. Pictures of damage done her show fearful destruction. Death reached odd places. Two men in the dining room were killed and every bit of furniture wrecked. The wireless house was shattered and a photographer, the same distance away in another direction, saw smoke from the Alum Chine in time to snap at the instant of the explosion and bring in pictures of the column of debris at the exact moment the steamer went into the air.

Drag for Bodies

Today, while the harbor police boat and other craft dragged the Patasco river for more bodies, efforts were being made to clear away the debris of wrecked wharves and houses along the water front. No estimate has been made of the total damage which will run into the thousands.

Judge Conley received the report and immediately discharged the men.

The jury deliberated 38 hours and 40 minutes. In view of the fact that Darrow was acquitted on his first bribery trial, it is expected that District Attorney Fredericks will now dismiss the indictment pending against him.

HEROIC POLICEMEN SAVE MANY LIVES

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 8.—Patrolmen Ole Hafsoos and David Finn were released from the Emergency hospital shortly before noon today with sore lungs but otherwise unharmed by an exploit that saved the lives of eleven children, the eldest seven years old.

When fire broke out this morning in a frame tenement on the south side, three families, Italians, fled from the building, leaving their children. Finn and Hafsoos entered the burning building and tossed the children through the windows, into the arms of firemen outside. A few minutes after the policemen had jumped into life nets the walls of the building collapsed.

DAVIES OFFERED AMBASSADORSHIP

May Go to Either Italy or Italy or Mexico as Representative of the United States

Joseph Davies, Madison, chairman of the democratic state central committee and western manager of the Wilson campaign, has been offered his choice of two ambassadorships, those of Italy and Mexico, by President Wilson.

This statement was made today by Senator Otto Bosshard, who said the information was authoritative.

Friends of Mr. Davies believe he will accept the Mexican mission, partly because it is but a day's ride from El Paso and the United States, but principally because of the field it offers for the performance of a great work to accomplish which they believe Mr. Davies is qualified.

Charges are now being made to the effect that Ambassador Wilson, the present incumbent, was in collusion with the foes of Diaz despotism, and that without his influence the Huertan treason and the murder of the Maderos would not have taken place. Therefore the ambassador who succeeds Wilson may count upon some interesting experiences.

Senator Bosshard recently made a trip to Trenton, N. J., to urge recognition of Mr. Davies.

THE CONWAYS TO PAY FOR MURDER

Circus Clown and Lion Tamer Wife Get Life and Fourteen Years Respectively

CHICAGO, March 18.—Charles Conway and his wife, Beatrice Ryall Conway former burlesque actress and lion tamer, were found guilty today of the murder of Sophia Singer, Baltimore heiress, and her benefactor, on October 6, 1912. The jury recommended life imprisonment for Conway and fourteen years for his actress wife.

Attorneys for both defendants gave notice of motion for new trials. Rulings will be made at this term of court.

Conway was a one-legged circus clown. His wife, a former burlesque star and lion tamer, met Sophia Singer, wealthy Baltimore woman while she was employed at a park in Baltimore.

Later, Miss Singer, by appointment, came to Chicago with her fiancé, William Warthen, and met the Conways. For several weeks her money enabled them to live. When the Conways learned that she was about to leave, according to his confession, Conway struck her a blow with a door knob, wrapped in a handkerchief, rendering her unconscious, and then strangled her to death. Mrs. Conway was charged with complicity although she said she was in another room at the time.

The Conways were captured in Lima, Ohio, and confessed. On the witness stand both repudiated their confessions. In his closing argument for the woman, Attorney George Remus expressed the belief that the confession was true but that his client lied to save her husband.

City Attorney's Ruling They Cannot Be Election Officials Involves Half of Board

Candidates for office are ineligible for the positions of election officials. This was the ruling of City Attorney A. H. Schubert at a meeting of election officials and citizens in the council chamber last night, and in default of a ruling by the attorney general it will stand.

City Clerk E. H. Hoffman called up the attorney general's office at Madison this morning and asked for an opinion on the question, but his request was refused on the ground does not authorize the legal department of the state to give opinions to any but district attorneys.

Mr. Schubert's ruling will disqualify about half of the present election officials, he estimated today. All of the aldermen are election officials in their wards, and many of the candidates for supervisor are either inspectors or clerks.

Ask for Ruling

Many of the officials involved refused to accept his opinion as final, and it was at their request that the city clerk asked for the ruling from the attorney general.

The city attorney's ruling was that candidates cannot serve as officials at registration, primaries or elections. As registration begins Monday, there is but short time to fill the vacancies that are created. The law provides that vacancies shall be filled by the board, but Mr. Schubert is uncertain whether the meaning is that the members of the board who are not disqualified by candidacy shall pick men for the vacancies, or whether the disqualified men have a voice in the selection of their successors.

HOLMQUIST AGAIN TO SING AT NORMAL

La Crosse people will remember with unalloyed pleasure several years ago when Gustav Holmquist, the eminent Scandinavian basso, appeared in the Norwegian Saengerfest in this city. April 18th he will again sing his way into the hearts of local musicians when he comes as bass soloist for the oratorio "St. Paul" Mendelssohn which the normal school chorus of 300 voices will present under the direction of Miss Harriet B. Oltman, supervisor of music.

ANDRE'S ORCHESTRA IS HIT AT LYRIC

Andre's orchestra has made a very favorable impression the past week at the Lyric theater, playing the universal programs. The Lyric management is well pleased with the way their patrons have attended the performances, since the installation of the orchestra. There is no doubt but what the photoplays are made doubly interesting by having good musical numbers.

The orchestra is working hard, arranging for the big features which are coming this week Sunday, a two reel 101 Bison feature, Monday and Tuesday, "The Crusaders," a four reel Lenten feature, Wednesday and Thursday, "The Crimson Cross," a three reel Elclair masterpiece, a companion picture of the famous "Passion Play."

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN ST. PAUL

Earnest Fay, 62, died at the City hospital in St. Paul yesterday, according to word received here by relatives. He is a former resident of this city. The body will be brought to La Crosse for burial tomorrow. The funeral will be held Monday afternoon from the residence of his sister, Mrs. Mary Hoenschler, Seventh and King streets. Rev. G. Sluyter will officiate. The cause of his death was not given in the message sent to relatives here. Burial will be at the Catholic cemetery.

REV. CLARKE TO SPEAK AT Y. W. C. A.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK?

Thousands of Men and Women Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Nature warns you when the track of health is not clear. Kidney and bladder troubles compel you to pass water often during the day and get up many times during the night.

Unhealthy kidneys cause lumbago, rheumatism, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints or muscles, at times have headache or indigestion, as time passes you may have a sallow complexion, puffy or dark circles under the eyes, sometimes feel as though you had heart trouble, may have plenty of ambition but no strength, get weak and lose flesh.

If such conditions are permitted to continue, serious results are sure to follow: Bright's disease, the very worst form of kidney trouble, may steal upon you.

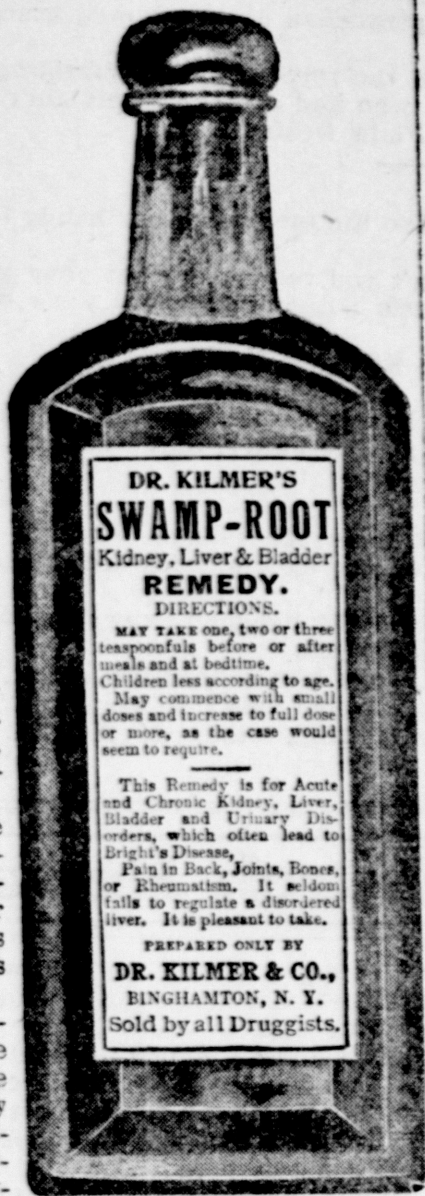

Prevalence of Kidney Disease. Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who usually content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease constantly undermines the system.

If you feel that your kidneys are the cause of your sickness or run down condition, begin taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because as soon as your kidneys improve, they will help the other organs to health.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at all drug stores. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., which you will find on every bottle.

Sample Bottle Sent Free.

EDITORIAL NOTICE.—To prove the wonderful merits of Swamp-Root you may have a sample bottle and a book of valuable information, both sent absolutely free by mail. The book contains many of the thousands of letters received from men and women who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy they needed. The value and success of Swamp-Root is so well known that our readers are advised to send for a sample bottle. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say you read this generous offer in The Daily Tribune. The genuineness of this offer is guaranteed.

LAUNDRYMEN OF STATE IN MEET

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 8.—Mayor G. A. Bading of Milwaukee, opened the annual convention of the Wisconsin Laundrymen's association with an address of welcome to the delegates when they assembled at the Republican house here. President C. G. Comstock of the association responded.

Friday afternoon the delegates were addressed by J. D. Beck of the industrial commission, Charles E. Wheeler, president of the Laundrymen's National association, and C. W. Price, an industrial commission assistant.

After a day inspecting local laundries, the convention will adjourn to-night.

WILSON IDEA OF NEW INCOME TAX

Solons Will Get It and May Add It to the Tariff Revision Bills

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Promulgation of an income tax to raise at least $100,000,000 in revenues lost through slashing of the tariff was considered at today's meeting of the house ways and means committee. To seek President Wilson's decision regarding the new income tax statutes is the plan of the tariff makers.

Committeemen stated today that they considered tariff revision and the income tax bill linked together. Many are advocating the passage of an income tax law with the tariff bills during the extra session. Some judgments favor taxing incomes as low as $3,000 a year. The majority, however, favor salaries of $5,000, as the minimum for taxation. Tentative income tax bills are now being prepared. Their consideration, if at all during the extra session, will come in connection with the "free list." If the free list is extended and much revenue lost, the income tax will be held in reserve to make up the deficit.

WILSON TO NAME JUDGES

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Misconception of President Wilson's announcement that applicants for federal appointments must be submitted direct to the heads of the departments in which the places are located, leading to the report that such a course might result in the attorney general passing on candidates for the bench who might later try federal lawsuits, led to the authoritative statement Friday that Wilson is to reserve this right of judicial appointment to himself.

QUEEN CELEBRATES

LONDON, March 8.—The lord mayor of London, the sheriffs and other city officials Friday went to Marlborough house to present an address of loyalty and congratulation to the dowager queen Alexandra, who is celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of her arrival in England. The queen mother gave a big dinner party last night to the royal family. Guests of honor were the seven surviving bridesmaids who attended Alexandra when she was married.

APPROVE RATE ADVANCE

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Advances in rates on linseed oil from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Chicago, Peoria, St. Louis and Missouri river cities, which were suspended in January were declared equitably today by the interstate commerce commission with the exception of the rate to Des Moines, Iowa, which was held discriminatory. The Des Moines rate was ordered set aside.

Story Is an Old One.

"Dick Whittington" is one of the most puzzling of all London pantomime stories, in point of origin. Tradition says positively that it is a true story of a former lord mayor of London, and it certainly is true that a Richard Whittington did marry his master's daughter and become chief citizen, but instead of being a homeless boy he was the son of a knight, Sir William Whittington. Italy, Brittany, Norway and Russia all have practically the same tale. The story also appears in a book by a Persian author, written years before the real Whittington was born.

Too Much Realism.

Paterfamilias writes to complain of "the amount of realism" that is nowadays imparted into mechanical toys. "The other evening," he says, "Johnny's automobile ran down the cat and knocked the sawdust out of two dolls."—Evening Standard and St. James Gazette.

UPSET, BILIOUS, SICK? "CASCARETS"

No Headache, Biliousness, Lazy Liver or Constipated Bowels by morning

Are you keeping your bowels, liver and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway through these alimentary or drainage organs every few days with Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oil or Purgative Waters?

Stop having a bowel wash-day. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, coated tongue, indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated Bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

GUESTS ESCAPE AS HOTEL BURNS

None of 100 Guests Hurt when New York Hostelry Is Scene of Big Fire

NEW YORK, March 8.—With only the dimmest of night garments to protect them from the bitter cold of an early March morning, fully 100 men, women and children, guests in the fashionable Hotel Burlington, at 10 West 30th street, fled into the streets early today when the building caught fire. Many of the women had to be carried down fire escapes and ladders by firemen and police. Others were assisted through swirling smoke across window ledges into the Holland house next door.

Henry Smith ran his elevator through the smoke for eight trips and took to the street many of the guests.

Although handicapped by water freezing and bursting hose, the firemen managed to keep the fire confined to the ground floor of the structure.

"PINK WIDOW" COMING

BIG BROADWAY SUCCESS TO BE AT THE MAJESTIC THEATER BEGINNING TOMORROW

No one has any fault to find with the good musical shows excepting the price. The only trouble with the average $1.50 musical comedy is the price of seats. There is no one objecting to seeing a bevy of pretty chorus girls, executing dances and singing merrily. No one objects to listening to entertaining comedians; anyone can laugh at the really clever jests, written by the best known American humorists. A kick has never been registered against the scenery and equipment of the successful musical comedies. The trouble, as stated above, has been the price of admission.

Those who look upon $1.50 as a sum worthy of notice will be pleased with the announcement that Manager Koppelberger has arranged for the appearance of one of these big musical shows at the Majestic on Sunday and has arranged a scale of prices which fits every pocketbook. The name of the show is "The Pink Widow." It is the original company, the same show seen on Broadway, and the price of admission is sane, reasonable and within the reach of every pocketbook. Because the show comes here at a cheap scale of prices is no reason to conclude that the production is cut down in any respect; it is not. This is a bargain in amusements. It is Manager Koppelberger's treat. This time he gives the public a triple money's worth. It is the biggest, best, brightest show of the season. It will live up to the impression gotten of it by magazine readers, Arthur Clamage and Jessie Webster are both with the company—and still the prices are "popular." This is the surprise of the theatrical season.

The Thank You.

The young man or woman in business who doesn't start out with a supply of thank yous to hand out to customers has not started in the right road to success. Courtesy can be made a habit, and courtesy of a fine, discriminating kind is what a great many salespeople need to make a deeper impression of customers. Thank yous cost nothing, and if said with a heartiness and good will, add much to the business transaction.—New Press.

Call for Men of High Ideals.

Let us devote ourselves to those great objects that are fit for our consideration and our action; let us raise our conceptions to the magnitude and the importance of the duties that devolve upon us; let our comprehension be as broad as the country for which we act, our aspirations as high as its certain destiny; let us not be pygmies in a case that calls for men.—Daniel Webster.

When the Sun Will Die.

It may be said unqualifiedly that the sun, like every other thing connected with the present order, will finally cease to be what it is today. The time will most surely come when the sun will have ceased to throw off light and heat. Long before that happens, however, the earth and other planets will have become "dead worlds," like the moon—no life of any sort upon them. It has been calculated that the sun will cease to throw out its heat somewhere about seven million of years from now.

Sir Henry's Reply.

When the late Sir Henry Irving was entertaining at dinner at one of the Oxford colleges, he was asked by a don, "Are you a university man, Sir Henry?" "Oh, no," said Irving; "I keep a secretary who was." Bernard Shaw, when asked the same snobbish question, replied, "I never was educated in your meaning of the term. In fact, my education was interrupted by my school days."

Charge a Heavy One.

In the session of a court devoted to hearing divorce cases the judge got around to one in which a negress was the complainant. "What is the charge?" was the opening formality. "Thirty-five dollars," answered the aggrieved party.

Some girls are so eager to thump a piano they can't even wait to wash the dishes.

LOVE LETTERS OF GENERAL PICKETT

From His Old Home On the Suffolk Expedition

RICHMOND, February, 1863.
Yesterday I rode on ahead of my division, stopped for a moment at our old home, ran into the garden and gathered for my darling some lilies of the valley, planted by my sweet mother, which I knew were now in the full glory of their blossoming. As I plucked them one by one, I thought of the dear mother who had planted them and the sweet bride-to-be who would receive them, and my heart went up in gratitude for the great love given me by both.

Meanwhile, Braxton and the cook and the whole household, in fact, are busy getting a lunch for me and preparing to load up my courier and my boy, Bob, with as many more lunches as they can carry, to be distributed as far as they will go. My little sister is making a paper box to hold my lilies for you, and I am writing a love-letter to stand sentinel over them and guard the sweet, sacred messages entrusted to them. Old Jackie will take them to you and will also bring you, with my sister's love, a box of her own home-made dulces.

Perhaps, sweetheart, perhaps I say, you will see your soldier sooner than you think. You know that since the capture of Roanoke Island and our abandonment of Norfolk and Suffolk, all that section of the country has been in the hands of the enemy. Now in the extreme northeast corner of North Carolina are stood away large quantities of corn and bacon. Old Peter, our far-seeing slave, has planned to secure some of these sorely needed supplies for our poor, half fed army—and there never was such an army, such an uncomplaining, plucky body of men—never.

Why, my darling, during these continuous ten days' march, the ground snowy and sleety, the feet of many of these soldiers covered with improvised moccasins—of raw beef hide, and hundreds of them without shoes or blankets or overcoats, they have not uttered one word of complaint, nor one murmuring tone; but cheerily, singing, telling stories, they have tramped—tramped—tramped. To crown it all, after having marched sixty miles over half-frozen, slushy roads they passed today through Richmond, the home of many of them, without a halt, with not a straggler—greeted and cheered by sweethearts, wives, mothers and friends. "God bless you, my darling," "God bless you, my son," "Hello, old man," "Howdy, Charley," rang all along the line. Lunches, slices of bread and meat, bottles of milk or hot coffee were thrust into grateful hands by the dear people of Richmond, who thus brought comfort and cheer to many a hungry one besides their very own, as the men hurriedly returned the greetings and marched on. You would hardly recognize these ragged, barefoot, soldiers as trim, tidy boys of two years ago in their handsome gray uniforms with shining equipment and full haversacks and knapsacks.

Be brave and help me to be brave, my darling, and to trust in God. I won't say, "Keep your powder dry," for one who doesn't know enough to do that is not much of a soldier. Faithfully and lovingly and forever your own SOLDIER.

LOST HIS VOICE THEN FOUND IT

Philip Spooner is the youngest son of ex-Senator Spooner, who for many years resided in Washington. Young Spooner when a youth had a remarkable soprano voice being able to sing with skill operatic arias, as well as difficult songs and ballads. He was fortunate in being able to hear the greatest singers at home and abroad all through his childhood days.

A friend said that many times his mother used to call him from his play to sing for some music lover, and he always came in cheerfully and never failed; for in a voice clear and as freely as the birds in a voice clear and thrilling, which soared far above high C.

The time came, however, when Philip's voice had to change and he didn't sing for nearly two years. He was broken-hearted over the loss of his voice, and naively expressed his grief by saying to his mother: "I seem to have lost myself, I don't know how to show my joys or sorrows any more now that I cannot sing."

Young Spooner, whose nature demanded expression through artistic channels, turned then seriously to painting for which he had always shown decided talent. This he kept up all through his college course, and studied abroad during the summers. He developed much talent for portraiture, going to New York to study as soon as practicable.

The voice returned at last in the form of a tenor of sweetness and limpidity. The easel and paint brush were thrown to the winds and with exultant joy, young Spooner returned to his first love. For years he has been studying for opera and concert with all the enthusiasm characteristic to his family. Many notable musicians have praised Spooner's voice and art. Jean De Reszke, the famous opera tenor, told this young man that with a voice of such lovely quality and sympathy, a fine future must await him. Mr. Spooner has borne out the prediction. His voice is lyric, and he has spent much time on the art of "bel canto" but as a musical critic remarked his voice has sufficient power for dramatic music and much dramatic color. He sings in four languages, and includes in his repertory songs by Franz, Spohr, Handel, Mozart, Lalo, Donizetti, Charpentier, Bizet, and in fact all of

The Destruction of Solom. (Temperance Lesson.) Gen. xix:1-3, 12-29. Golden Text—Come ye out from among them and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch no unclean thing. II Cor. vi:17.

(1.) Verses 1-3—Were these two persons called angels actual spirits or human beings? Why?

(2.) What, if any, evidence is there that spirits today sometimes actually materialize and speak and look like human beings?

(3.) Is hospitality a virtue that we must exercise or one that is optional? Why?

(4.) Why did these angels at first refuse Lot's hospitality?

(5.) If these men or angels said no and at the same time meant to accept on being pressed a little more, how would you characterize their action?

(6.) What is your opinion, and why, as to whether Christian people are as hospitable to strangers today as they were in the past?

(7.) Is it a commendable custom or otherwise, and why, to have an extra spread or other than our usual meal when we entertain strangers?

(8.) If a person will not accept of our hospitality from a courteous invitation why should we or not press it upon him, as Lot did?

(9.) Verses 12-13—What should our warning be to those who are the associates of sinners?

(10.) What is the inevitable doom, physical and spiritual, of all who commit sins against virtue?

(11.) Verse 14—Why did Lot's sons-in-law treat with such contempt Lot's warning to escape for their lives?

(12.) In view of the admitted and the awful penalty attached to sin why do sinners continue in their sins and refuse the offer of Christ's salvation?

(13.) Verses 15-16—What would you say, and why, is the one thing which should have our immediate and urgent attention?

(14.) If God were to warn you that this place was to be destroyed in a few hours with earthquake, tornado or fire what would be the manner of your departure?

(15.) Verse 17—What sins entail the shortening or the loss of life as well as the other penalties attached to wrong-doing?

(16.) Why is intemperance a sin of such great magnitude and danger that we ought to urge men to fly for their lives from it?

(17.) How would you class the tobacco habit? Is it beneficial to health? Is it a help or a hindrance to spiritual life? Should we or not urge men to fly from it?

(18.)—

(19.) Verses 18-20—When God either directly or indirectly tells us where to go or what to do for safety is it wise or otherwise to suggest some other place or plan, as Lot does in this story?

(20.) Verse 21—When God answers a prayer that should never have been made, is it ever in our best interest?

(21.) Verses 22-23—What influence for good have the righteous upon an evil community in which they live?

(22.) Verses 24-25—What is the inevitable doom of every unrighteous nation?

(23.) Verses 26-27—What was the real sin of Lot's wife?

(24.) Verses 27-29—What is the proof that God never forgets his own?

THE FIRESIDE SERMON

By Lucius C. Clark, D. D.

Saturday, March eighth, 1913
Henry Ward Beecher, Died March eighth, 1871

Romans, 10, 14.

"How they shall hear without a preacher."

The world thinks it is done with preaching until a St. Chrysostom, a Savonarola, a Whitfield or a Beecher comes and then we know there is nothing to take the place of the tongue of fire. Henry Ward Beecher pushed preaching far beyond his generation.

But They Never Do.

Little fault would be found with people who tell all they know if they would quit when they have done that.

Disturbers.

There's hardly any way to be such a nuisance as to have strong convictions.—New York Press.

Stolen Gems from Humor's Crown.

What His Motive Was

A lady having more than the average portion of avoirdupois mounted a Superior avenue car the other night. Safely inside she grabbed a strap and stood on a sitting gentleman's toes for the trip home.

Almost immediately the sitting gentleman got up, bowed gracefully and motioned her to his seat.

"You are very kind, sir," dimpled the roly-poly lady, subsiding. "Kind?" snorted the gentleman who had arisen. "This ain't kindness—it's self defense."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Wanted to be a Puppy

Margaret, as usual, wanted to leave the table with her hands full of bread and jam.

"Margaret," said her mother, "don't you remember that your grandfather said you reminded him of a little puppy taking his bone out to chew?"

"Margaret slipped from the table with her bread.

Pansy watched her sister silently, and then fixed herself a small piece of bread and jam; then turning to her mother her big brown eyes, she meekly said, "Mamma, may I be a little puppy, too?"—Judge.

The Hind-Legged Choir

An old farmer and his wife lived near the village church. One warm Sunday evening while they sat dozing on the porch the cricket set up a loud chirping.

"I just love that chirpin' noise," said the old man drowsily, and before the cricket had stopped he was fast asleep.

Soon afterward the church choir broke into a beautiful chant.

"Just listen to that!" exclaimed his wife, "ain't it beautiful?"

"Yes," murmured the old farmer sleepily, "they do it with their hind legs."—P. I. P.

CHURCH NEWS

New York Social Week

To Hold a Social Week

Twenty-five Episcopal churches in the Borough of the Bronx, New York City, have just voted to hold a church social week, April 20 to 27, with supplemental group meetings on the Wednesday nights in May. It is the first such week to be held in America, and is to try out a plan that is held by many to be an improvement upon the city-wide campaigns thought by the Laymen's Missionary and Men and Religion movement. Instead of a general committee, with headquarters in a distant city, after the manner of the movements named, a local organization has been formed in the Bronx, pledged to make the weeks an annual event.

Unlike the movements mentioned, the meetings are held in each church without any central meetings. Out missions merely, but Sunday schools, social service, welfare of boys—all causes to which Christian churches address themselves, are included. No outside speakers are imported and three direct campaigns, local to each church, are planned. One is a pledge to live a better life during the year to come—to try to do so that is.

Another is a canvass of the local field and a recasting of memberships in all organizations. And the third is a setting up of old financial obligations and the making of new ones, parish support and missions. The expectations are that 8,000 to 10,000 persons will be personally seen and instructed, a number far in excess of any central meetings, while the expense compared with the movements referred to, and their city-wide campaigns, will be negligible. The Bronx experiment is watched with interest by many Christian leaders.

The Lord's supper is celebrated the first Sunday of each month at the close of the morning service.

the opening address of the convention, and Prof. Graham Taylor of Chicago, Mrs. Raymond Robins of Chicago and Miss Grace Dodge of New York will be among other speakers.

The feature of the convention is to be a pageant on Saturday afternoon, to take place in the new Bryan Park, just turned over to the city. Miss Lotta Clark of Boston, is to manage it, and many features of class day pageants or parades at Vassar, Smith and Wellesley colleges will be produced, with the added novelty of girls from foreign lands, in novel costumes. The pageant is to have four parts, the student, the country, the city and the foreign work of the association.

Closer co-operation between Y. W. and Y. M. C. A.'s, sex education, the development of a national traveler's aid service, and the teaching of girls how to save money are some of the topics to be discussed. Y. W. C

Why I bought

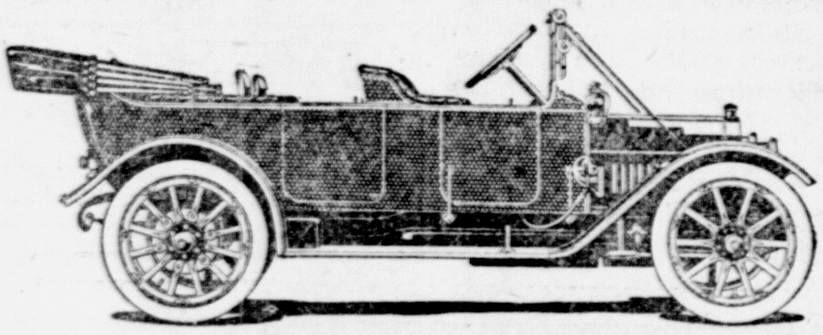

La Crosse Motor Car Co.
La Crosse, Wis.

Gentlemen:

I have driven one of your 1909 five passenger touring cars for the past four seasons which has given me very satisfactory service. The up-keep has been nominal indeed. I regard it as one of the most economical cars in the consumption of oil and gasoline. I am not in the market at present for a new car, but when I am it certainly will be a CADILLAC. I also wish to compliment you on the CADILLAC service which has been prompt, efficient and always courteous.

Yours very truly,
ALFRED J. MILLER.

Cylinders cast en bloc possess very much greater rigidity than when cast singly or in pairs. They are also always in positive alignment which insures freedom from binding the pistons in the cylinders when the engine is subjected to twisting strains on rough roads. This binding not only creates loss of power but causes all the bearings in the engine to wear fast, necessitating its being taken down frequently for adjustment and shortening its life.

Opening the needle valve wider is a help to easy starting; this is especially the case with cars having carburetor control from the seat, as all should. If the driver carefully regulates the feed while the engine is well warmed, the chances are that he shuts off part of the gasoline and that the engine will start hard when cold.

American designers are keeping a sharp watch on the trend in foreign design, especially in everything pertaining to the engine, and it is very significant that at the recent Paris Salon show, it was a clean sweep for the long stroke motor.

REAL MISSION OF SIGNAL NOT NOISE

Writer in Motoring Publication Says Few Motorists Use Signal Horns Properly

In an article in the current issue of Motor Print, Charles Johnson declares that most motorists lose sight of the real mission of the automobile warning signal. Describing conditions in Los Angeles and lower California—a locality selected as typical because of the large number of automobiles in use—Mr. Johnson says: "I doubt if in ten per cent of the signaling by motorists that came under my observation there was evidence of the proper understanding of what the auto horn is for."

"Instead of giving a proper note at a crossing, I have frequently observed that the Los Angeles motorist does not sound his signal at all, but often immediately begins to sound it as soon as he passes one crossing on his way to the crossing a block beyond. Theoretically he does this to give ample warning to the individual at the farther crossing. Practically, what he should do is to sound the note a quarter of a block from the crossing, which has a dual effect; it causes the pedestrian who is about to step into the street to halt, and gives the pedestrian in the roadway ample time to get out of the way. If the horn is blown at the farther end of the block and remains silent when near the crossing, the pedestrian has no means of knowing of the immediate proximity of the machine."

"For the six months ending July 1, 1912, there were 1,135 automobile accidents in Los Angeles in which 659 persons were injured. Of these 590 were struck or run over by machines. There were 429 accidents at crossings and 124 between crossings. The city council has now passed an ordinance defining a proper warning signal as an abrupt note, sufficiently loud to be heard above the noise of traffic and restricting the use of this to its true function; as a warning of danger. Another ordinance is being urged which will prohibit pedestrians from crossing the street at the intersection of streets where traffic officers are stationed except under the direction of the latter.

"My own careful study of the warning signal problem leads me to the conclusion that there is only one proper method of procedure. The first step in this direction is the framing of a law which defines with in limits of reasonable elasticity the sound that constitutes an adequate warning of danger, and the prompt punishment of the noise maker who uses a danger signal as a play-toy. Such a law must not prohibit, but must regulate. The police power of no city is sufficient to enable the municipality to prohibit the use of any public safety device within reason."

"The city does possess the power of regulation, which enables it to prevent any article or product being transformed into a nuisance, but regulation does not carry with it the power of prohibition in such instances. Then, when a city has the proper law, the duty devolves upon the law-abiding, far-minded motorist to unite in the matter of educating themselves and others as to the proper use of the automobile warning signal. Once a right law is created, once motorists and non-motorists understand aright the significance of the warning signal, once punishment is known to follow, sure and swift, upon the misuse of the warning signal, then the accident roll will be reduced to a minimum. The same situation as that described above exists in almost every city in the United States, although in less degree than in Los Angeles where all classes use the motor car."

The difference between the cars of a few years ago and those of today show very strikingly the wonderful improvement made in eliminating the noise of operation. In fact the improvement is so great that it is almost permissible to call the standard cars of today "silent."

The manufacturers of today are building the automobile business on the right foundation by giving the ultimate consumer a fair and square deal, the first principle of which is "give the buyer his money's worth."

MOTOR TRUCKS ARE NOW INDISPENSABLE

Trucks Now to Be Had in All Sizes and for Every Line of Business

The ultimate goal of the motor car is its commercial utility.—F. J. Noetzel.

The advance of the modern motor car along commercial lines has been wonderful, even though "unheralded and unsung," like its charming sister, the pleasure car, by five thousand dollar page advertisements. Its advance was as rapid as was consistent with serviceability, durability and thorough research of every phase of the problems of transporting the world's goods by this modern Hercules in the service of mankind.

Theoretically, it is very easy to build a good motor truck—just get a good motor and put it into a well made wagon. That's all right as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough. An idea and an ideal, even when backed by the brains and the money to put them into practice, will not always produce a practical, serviceable motor truck. They make a long start in the right direction, but the improvements that must enter into the truck of the highest efficiency can come only with experience, not with one truck in one city, but with many in all conditions of service.

A truck to be of the highest efficiency must be designed and built for the purpose intended for—not a semi-pleasure vehicle. A converted touring car, or worse, the obsolete touring car chassis turned into a so-called truck are much to blame for the so-called failures of the motor truck.

There is now a vehicle built for every purpose, and the truck salesman that values his business will do well to study his client's needs and then furnish the equipment best suited to his particular line. Then the motor truck will have nothing but boosters.

Buicks Cost More Than Some But Cost Less Than Any to Run

"I have been a Buick user since 1908, have owned three and have more than got my money's worth every time. The car I have now I have had since April 10. I have run 12,000 miles and except for tires, have spent only $4.60 for repairs."—Archie McConnell, Superintendent German Rock Asphalt & Cement Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Work, or You're Nobody.

A young Englishman who came to this country to enter business wrote to his father that he was making good in his work, and that America was a remarkably bustling and progressive place. "You simply must work or you're not in it," he wrote. "You must be busy, if you want to win out. It doesn't matter so much what you work at, but you must work."

NORMAL DEBATERS WIN AND LOSE

Platteville Winners Here; Locals Victorious Over the Milwaukee Team

The local normal school debating team was defeated in the local auditorium last night by a team representing the Platteville normal school by a decision of 2 to 1. The team representing the local school at Milwaukee won their debate by a unanimous decision.

The feature of the debate in La Crosse was the work done by Walter Paulson, the third speaker for the visitors. He came prepared to present a set speech but the local men brought forth a different plan than he anticipated and it was necessary for him to answer their arguments extemporaneously.

The question up for discussion was "Resolved, that the wisest tariff policy for the United States is the tariff for revenue only." The La Crosse team upheld the affirmative.

The work of George Barrett for the locals also was very good and especially his rebuttal speech which was the best of the debate. The victorious La Crosse team upheld the negative of the same question in Milwaukee.

Debaters

Affirmative (La Crosse)—George Barrett, Neil Rude, Arthur Euler. Negative (Platteville)—Charles White, Harry Gibson, Walter Paulson.

The leading figures in the important Alaska land fraud case now being tried in the United States District court at Chicago are Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, the presiding justice, U. S. Attorney James H. Wilkerson, who is handling the case for the government, and A. C. Frost and five other defendants who are charged with conspiracy to defraud the government out of $10,000,000 worth of Alaskan coal lands by the use of "dummy" names. The government is endeavoring to show that the alleged conspiracy was one of tremendous proportions and involved promoters, financial groups and investors in Chicago, Seattle, Toronto, and Alaska.

Flowers in Glass Vases.

Certain flowers, such as roses, heliotrope, mignonette, etc., look best in glass, but the glass should be plain, not cut, nor in any way ornamented. Roses are never lovelier than when seen against this crystal background. In using glass, however, great care must be taken to keep the water fresh, since if only slightly discolored the perfection of the whole is marred.

HOW TO BE MISERABLE.

If you wish to be miserable think about yourself, about what you want, what you like, what respect people ought to pay you. In this way you can spoil everything, make misery out of everything and be as wretched as you choose.—Charles Kingsley.

RUSHFORD MINN

Mrs. Hugh Lampman is confined to her bed by a severe attack of the grip.

Guy Pierce from Fremont drove down to Rushford yesterday for a short visit with his mother, Mrs. Pierce, who is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fenstermacher on Mill street.

Mrs. Emma Whitlock of Dakota, Minn., is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. James McDonald of South Rushford.

Mr. L. L. Streeter, who has been very ill for several weeks, is about the same, being very weak and part of the time unconscious.

Mr. T. Parish accompanied Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Smith on their recent trip to Washington, D. C.

A number of new books, mostly fiction, by the most popular authors, have been added to our public library, being the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Kilbourne of this city. The gift is greatly appreciated as the demand for good reading matter is ahead of the supply at the library.

Mr. McDermid of North Rushford, who in December fell and broke his hip, is still confined to his bed, but the physician has removed the cast in which the limb was encased and it is hoped that the old gentleman will soon be about again, as his eighty-seven years renders such close confinement very irksome. His daughter, Mrs. McKay of Orient, S. D., is here aiding in caring for him.

Miss Benora Osgard has entered Miss Foss' millinery shop to learn the trade and Miss Nellie Fenstermacher has been engaged as apprentice at Miss Jennie McLaughlin's millinery parlors.

Professor Lambert has been a recent La Crosse visitor.

Clarence Dahl and Elizabeth Am-dahl of Choice were married last week. The bridegroom is a brother of Ed Dahl of this city.

Mrs. Ensrud still lies in a very critical condition with double pneumonia, at her home in this city. All her children are now at her bedside.

"Captain" Nash, as he is always familiarly called, is also ill at his home on South Ferry street.

Ed Selgenoe of Oak Ridge drove down for a few hours' visit with his mother yesterday.

Roland Nichols, lecturer, will speak at the Rushford opera house Wednesday, March 21, being the third number upon the Lyceum course. Mr. Nichols was the discoverer of Harold Bell Wright, the author, and was for some time also his guardian. This lecture comes highly recommended and we feel sure that none who hear him will regret it. The fourth and last number of the Lyceum course will be the Southland Jubilee Singers, some time in April.

F. W. Parish of Dallas, S. D., is the guest of friends and relatives here. W. A. Parish was a Whalen visitor last Monday.

Mrs. Mary West has been up from her home in La Crosse to attend to matters pertaining to her farm near this city.

Ener Jorgenson of Superior, Wis., has been the recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Parish of North Rushford.

Mrs. T. E. Lawrence, nee Bessie Locken, has departed for Oakland, Cal., after an extended visit for Oakland, their future home.

A real estate deal of last week resulted in the exchange of five lots in Brooklyn, formerly the property of J. Webster, into the possession of John Akre, who intends to erect thereon a modern residence as soon as building operations and excavating can be commenced.

Carl Swenson has been a recent Houston caller.

S. Caswell and family spent last Sunday in Houston, the guests of relatives and friends.

A. J. Holle was a business visitor at La Crosse this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Davy of Minneapolis, who spent last summer in this city, while Mr. Davy was superintending the building of the state road, are the happy parents of a young son, who arrived at their home via the stork express a few days ago.

Conrad Eggen and Carl Larson were La Crosse callers Thursday.

Rushford has as a representative to the merchants' convention at St. Paul, George Julrud, who left for the Twin cities Tuesday.

Two of our most enthusiastic young skiers, Clarence Reihus and Peter Rislove, went over to Spring Grove to attend the ski tournament held there last Saturday. Clarence carried off second honors in the amateur class. It is with great regret that our ski club must give up all thoughts of our ski tournament here, as not enough snow has fallen to insure good work and it would not be a paying proposition to send for professionals under such risky conditions.

Mrs. Alfred Holtegard underwent an operation at a La Crosse hospital last week, the trouble being appendicitis and is now progressing so rapidly that Mr. Holtegard has returned home.

Dr. Fred Drake and family are the guests of relatives here.

Mr. C. Bleckum, an employee of the Caswell barber shop, spent a day this week with Houston relatives.

Mrs. C. C. Johnson has been the guest of Peterson friends.

Mrs. E. O. Laugen of Houston has been visiting her friends and relatives here.

Miss Dora Anderson will be hostess to the Ruth society No. 1 next Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Grace Gobel has accepted a

ECZEMA CAN BE CURED

I Will Prove It To You At My Expense

YOU WHO ARE SUFFERING THE TORTURES OF ECZEMA, WHOSE DAYS ARE MISERABLE, WHOSE NIGHTS ARE MADE SLEEPLESS BY THE TERRIBLE ITCHING, BURNING PAINS, I ASK YOU—URGE YOU TO LET ME SEND YOU A TREATMENT WHICH HAS CURED HUNDREDS OF OTHERS, WHICH I BELIEVE WILL CURE YOU. I WILL SEND IT FREE, POSTAGE PAID TO YOUR DOOR, WITHOUT ANY OBLIGATION ON YOUR PART NOW OR HEREAFTER.

J. C. HUTZELL

A New Discovery Tried and Proven in Hundreds of Cases

I believe that I have discovered the only sensible, scientific treatment for Eczema, Salt Rheum, Itch, Acne, Psoriasis, Barber's Itch and Poison Oak ever offered to sufferers from these diseases.

It is a combination treatment easy to use in your own home or at your work. It is designed not only to relieve the suffering, which it does almost immediately, but to effect a complete and lasting cure by driving out of the blood the poisonous acids which cause all skin diseases. So sure am I that my treatment will convince you that at last you have found a cure that I am willing to send a large proof treatment absolutely free of charge or obligation to any sufferer who will send their name and address on the coupon below. If you are satisfied, I know you will tell others.

Don't Send Money

I have decided to spend five thousand dollars in introducing this treatment to sufferers from skin diseases and I will do it. I have agreed to send every reader of this announcement a liberal proof treatment free and I WILL DO IT. Just fill out the coupon below or write me a letter and I will send the treatment without a penny of cost to you.

J. C. HUTZELL, 110 West Main St., Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Please send without cost or obligation to me your Free Proof Treatment.

position as trimmer in a Leroy millinery shop and departed last Monday to commence her duties.

P. S. Lysford of Peterson was a business caller in this city yesterday.

Frank Zenker of Dresbach was a caller here one day this week.

Services will be held at Emmanuel Episcopal church next Sunday, March 9th.

Mr. Whitehouse of Houston was a between trains caller on Mr. Caswell's family on Mill street.

Mr. L. Whitehouse of La Crosse is the guest of the DeLo Vier family residing north of this city.

About as Far as He Could Go.

On the first of the month there was to be a shift in studies in some of the public school grades, and a young son was consulting his father. He had finished with ancient history, which was ancient arbitrarily up to the time of the Christian era. "How far did you get in it?" asked the sire. "Down to zero," responded the heir.

Financial Explanation.

"Well, sir," cried Mr. Richpop, "what does this mean?" My daughter sitting on your lap, sir?" "Why, yes, Mr. Richpop," said Waggle. "You see, sir, I have just suggested a consolidation of our interests, and I have undertaken to act as a holding company until the merger is completed according to established forms."—Harper's Weekly.

A New Novel by the Author of

The Melting of Molly

Which was for Eight Months the Best Selling Book in America

Andrew the Glad

By Maria Thompson Daviess

Andrew the Glad is most sweet and sound and wholesome as a ripe red apple.

—Chicago Record-Herald

The story is brightly, diverting, full of vigor and vim; bright, active, refreshing.

—Cleveland Plain Dealer

Andrew the Glad is another southern romance as happily humorous and sympathetic as The Melting of Molly.

—Buffalo Commercial

The hero was known as Andrew the Glad. Until a great love made him Andrew the Glad.

PACKY HAS BEST OF BRITTON BOUT

Verdict of Critics Is that He Outpointed the Much Touted New Yorker

NEW YORK, March 8.—Jack Britton, the much touted New York lightweight whose chances of climbing to the top of the division were considered bright, lost the immediate possibility of a match with Willie Ritchie when he was outpointed last night by Packy McFarland, the Chicago whirlwind. Today fight critics were unanimous in their opinion that Packy had clearly the best of eight of the ten rounds at Madison Square garden.

Had it not been for the shiftiness of Britton, he would certainly have fallen before the swift and clever attack of the western boxer. In the two rounds where Britton had a shade, McFarland seemed to be resting and at the end of the bout, the stock yards champion was undoubtedly the master of the situation.

Today his manager announced that he would set sail for Ritchie.

HIS HARD HITTING TICKLES JENNINGS

Bobbie Veach, veteran of a year's standing with the Detroit Tigers, has been one of the stellar performers in training workouts at Gulfport, Miss. The heavy hitting of this former Peoria player has made him look like one of the best bets for the outfield.

LUNATIC ESCAPES TO SEE THE PRISON

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 8.—Wauwun, Wis., authorities brought to Milwaukee William Zastrow, escaped inmate of the Milwaukee insane asylum, who escaped from that institution early this week. It is believed a desire to see the penitentiary to which he was sentenced for the attempted murder of Patrolman William Maasa in 1910 prompted Zastrow to go to Wauwun.

MOHA SIGNS TO MEET M'GOORTY

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 8.—After days of dickering the match between Wild Bob Moha and Eddie McGoorty was definitely closed yesterday when forfeits for weight and appearance were posted with the south side athletic club. The contest will be staged at the Elite rink on March 17. The route will be ten rounds and the weight will be 180 pounds at 3 o'clock.

RANDALL SIGNS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 8.—Newt Randall, veteran outfielder of the Brewers, arrived in the city yesterday, spent a few minutes in conference with the powers that be, and then beamingly announced that he had affixed his signature to the papers for 1913.

VALIER WINS TOURNEY

Ronald Valier, winner in class B, defeated Ray Huebner, class A winner, yesterday afternoon and capped the first prize in the intermediate billiard tourney at the Y. M. C. A. Huebner, scratch man in the tournament, played 185 to Valier's 55, and was unable to surmount his big handicap.

Witty Mr. Grumble.

Unkindest Cut of All.
"They say Billy's father is so angry with him that he has cut him." "That's true; but Billy wouldn't mind it so much if he hadn't also cut his allowance."

RECORDS SMASHED AT A. A. A. MEET

New Mark Set for Shot and Kiviat Puts Up New Mark for 5,000-yard Dash

NEW YORK, March 8.—One world's record went tumbling, one runner—Abel R. Kiviat of the Irish American Athletic club—won both the 600 and 1,000 yard runs and Hannes Kolehmainen, the speedy Finn dropped out of the two mile race at Madison Square garden on Thursday night where the Amateur Athletic union held its annual senior indoor championships.

The new world's record was made by Patrick J. McDonald, the New York policeman, who won Olympic honors last summer. McDonald put the 24 pound shot 30 feet 3 3/4 inches, nearly five inches more than his old world's record made outdoors at Celtic park eighteen months ago.

Kiviat was the star of the evening. His feat of romping away with the two big events carried with it a new American record in the 1,000 yard run of 2:45 4-5, shortening his own record of two years ago by two-fifths of a second. An hour later he left at his heels Ted Meredith, the Olympic winner by inches only in the 600 yard event, with Halpin of Boston a close third.

Kolehmainen, the Finnish long distance runner, trailed a pack of eleven runners eleven times around the ten lap track and then he quit. He couldn't warm up to a short sprint of two miles, apparently.

BINGLES FROM THE TRAINING CAMP

HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 8.—Lineups were announced today for the first practice game between the Highlanders and Arthur Irwin's Subs.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., March 8.—A cold wind and flurry of snow made the morning workout of Griffith's Climbers a brief one and threatened to stop this afternoon's scheduled game between the recruits and the University of Virginia regulars.

MARLIN, Texas, March 8.—That Johnny McGraw has great confidence in the ability of Jim Thorpe was shown today when he transferred the Indian back to the first team.

WACO, Texas, March 8.—Immediately after this afternoon's game between the St. Louis Browns' regulars and the Cubs, it was expected Manager Stovall would wield the axe and that several heads would fall either tonight or Monday.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 8.—The regular team which Manager Huggins will lineup against the Colts in the first practice game of the season this afternoon, will be composed of members of last year's St. Louis Cardinal club.

PITTSBURGH, March 8.—The advance guard of the Pirates, now at West Baden, and the remainder of the squad, which is yet in its citizens' clothes, will meet in St. Louis Sunday and leave for Hot Springs over an Iron Mountain special.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 8.—With Joe Wood going at top speed, Manager Stahl today devoted his attention to the large squad of young pitchers.

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 8.—While the regulars are today glorying in their victory of 5 to 1 over the yannigans in the first game of the Naps' training season, the latter team claims the honor of pulling off the first triple play.

TAMPA, Fla., March 8.—President Murphy passed out the word quietly today that he was pretty well pleased with the progress made by the Cubs thus far. Murphy watched the regulars and yannigans go five innings of a hair raising battle to a 1 to 1 tie yesterday afternoon.

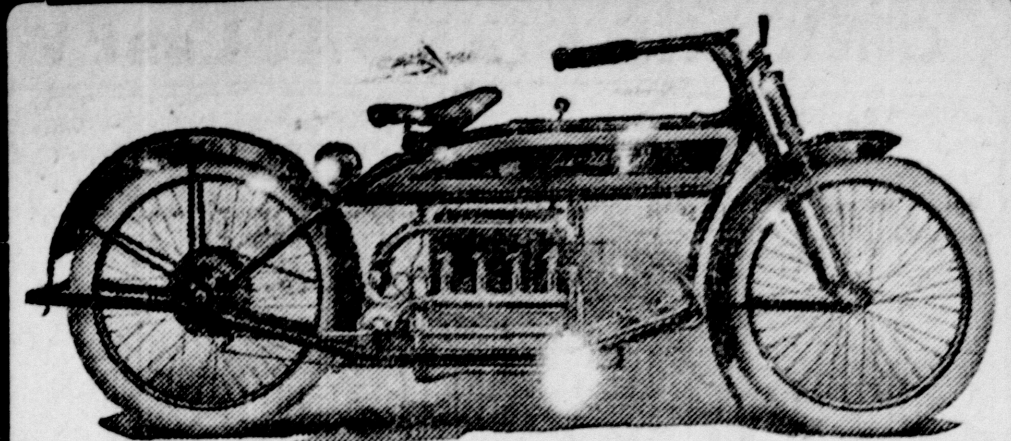

GULFPORT, Miss., March 8.—Manager Jennings of the Tigers planned to use the strongest team that he could put in the field this afternoon when the Tigers meet the Cincinnati Reds in the first of a two game series at Mobile. The Detroit squad left Gulfport at 10:30 this morning.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—Local fandom had its hammer out for Buck Weaver today just because Buck, who used to hail from Frisco, drove in the run that enabled the White Sox to trim the Seals five to four yesterday.

COLLEGE WRESTLER HURT

MINNEAPOLIS, March 8.—Paralyzed from his neck down, John Ihle, 23 years old a junior in the Minnesota agricultural college, is in St. Barnabas hospital today as a result of injuries received last night in an amateur wrestling match.

TWO BOYS BURN IN FARM BLAZE

HINCKLEY, Minn., March 8.—The farm home of Michael Burbahn, nine miles east of here, was burned and two of his sons, aged 9 and 10, perished in the flames Thursday evening. Burbahn was away but his wife made a desperate effort to save her children and piloted six of the eight in the family to places of safety. She was badly burned and may not recover. The boys who were burned to death were trapped in bedrooms and had no chance to escape.
